GOODWILL MESSAGE BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE NIGERIAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS (NIA) AT THE OPENING CEREMONY OF THE 20TH AFRICA INTERNATIONAL HOUSING SHOW (AIHS 2026)

It is both an honour and a privilege, on behalf of the Executive Committee, Council and the entire membership of the Nigerian Institute of Architects (NIA), to extend our heartfelt congratulations to the Housing Development Advocacy Network (HDAN) as it celebrates the 20th Anniversary of the Africa International Housing Show (AIHS).

Twenty years is a remarkable milestone—one that speaks not merely to longevity, but to vision, consistency, resilience, and enduring impact. Through AIHS and its broader advocacy initiatives, HDAN has established itself as one of Africa's foremost champions of housing development, creating a credible platform that has continuously shaped policy dialogue, stimulated investment, encouraged innovation, fostered strategic partnerships, and kept the issue of affordable housing firmly on the national and continental agenda.

The housing challenge confronting Africa is among the defining development issues of our generation. It transcends the provision of shelter alone; it encompasses economic productivity, public health, environmental sustainability, social inclusion, urban resilience, and national competitiveness. Addressing this challenge therefore demands integrated thinking and coordinated action across government, the private sector, development institutions, academia, financiers, manufacturers, and the built environment professions.

Architecture occupies a central place within this ecosystem. Architects are uniquely positioned to transform policy aspirations into functional, resilient, inclusive, and sustainable communities through thoughtful planning, contextual design, technological innovation, and responsible stewardship of the built environment.

The Nigerian Institute of Architects therefore proudly identifies with the vision and accomplishments of HDAN. We commend your unwavering commitment to advocacy, public engagement, knowledge exchange, and stakeholder collaboration over the past two decades. Few organisations have done more to convene diverse interests around the shared objective of expanding access to quality housing across Africa.

As we celebrate this important milestone, we also see immense opportunities ahead. The challenges facing our cities require stronger institutional partnerships than ever before. The NIA looks forward to deepening its collaboration with HDAN in advancing research, policy advocacy, professional capacity development, housing innovation, urban regeneration, climate-responsive design, and the promotion of affordable, dignified, and sustainable housing solutions across Nigeria and the African continent.

We are especially grateful for the opportunity afforded Nigerian architects to showcase their ideas, innovations, and practical solutions through this year's exhibition. It reflects a shared commitment to celebrating excellence while demonstrating the transformative role of architecture in national development.

As AIHS enters its third decade, may it continue to inspire bold ideas, influence transformative policies, attract meaningful investment, and strengthen collaboration across Africa's housing value chain.

Congratulations to HDAN on twenty years of exceptional service to Africa's housing sector. The Nigerian Institute of Architects remains proud to stand with you as a committed partner in building not only better houses, but stronger cities, more resilient communities, and a more prosperous Africa.

Thank you, and God bless the Federal Republic of Nigeria.

Goodwill Message by the National President of the Nigerian Institute of Town Planners (NITP), TPL. Dr Ogbonna Chime, FNITP, on the Occasion of the 20th Africa International Housing Show (AIHS 2026), Held from 13th to 18th July 2026 at Transcorp Hilton, Abuja

Protocols.

On behalf of the Nigerian Institute of Town Planners (NITP), I extend my warmest congratulations and best wishes to the organisers of the 20th Africa International Housing Show (AIHS 2026) on the successful hosting of this landmark event. Celebrating twenty years of unwavering commitment to advancing housing and sustainable urban development across Africa is a remarkable milestone. Over the past two decades, the Africa International Housing Show has evolved into the continent's foremost platform for promoting dialogue, innovation, strategic partnerships, investment, and knowledge exchange among stakeholders committed to transforming Africa's housing sector.

The NITP recognises that the challenges confronting African cities, including rapid urbanisation, housing deficits, inadequate infrastructure, informal settlement growth, climate change, land governance issues, and increasing social inequalities, require coordinated and multidisciplinary responses. Addressing these complex issues demands not only increased investment in housing but also sound spatial planning, effective urban governance, efficient land administration, sustainable infrastructure provision, and stronger collaboration among the stakeholders. As professionals charged with guiding the orderly and sustainable development of human settlements, town planners remain central to creating inclusive, resilient, safe, healthy, and economically vibrant communities.

The NITP therefore commends the Africa International Housing Show for consistently providing a credible platform where innovative ideas are exchanged, practical solutions are showcased, investment opportunities are promoted, and policy directions are advanced. The Institute remains fully committed to supporting initiatives that promote planned urban development, affordable and decent housing, climate resilient cities, environmental sustainability, effective land use management, and improved quality of life for present and future generations across Africa.

As participants engage in discussions and share experiences during this historic edition of the Africa International Housing Show, it is our expectation that the resolutions and partnerships emerging from the event will strengthen housing policies, stimulate innovation, expand investment opportunities, enhance professional collaboration, and contribute meaningfully to achieving sustainable urban development in Nigeria and across Africa.

Once again, I congratulate the organisers on this remarkable twentieth anniversary and commend all sponsors, exhibitors, speakers, and participants for their invaluable contributions to the success of the event. I wish everyone a productive, rewarding, and memorable Africa International Housing Show 2026.

Thank you.

Tpl. Dr Ogbonna Chime, FNITP
National President,
Nigerian Institute of Town Planners

GOODWILL MESSAGE FROM FAMILY HOMES FUNDS LIMITED (FHFL) ON THE OCCASION OF THE 20TH AFRICA INTERNATIONAL HOUSING SHOW (AIHS @20 – LEGACY EDITION)

On behalf of the Board, Management and Staff of Family Homes Funds Limited (FHFL), I extend our warm congratulations to the organisers of the Africa International Housing Show (AIHS) on the occasion of the 20th Anniversary Edition of this remarkable continental platform.

Over the past two decades, AIHS has evolved into Africa's foremost housing and construction event, bringing together governments, development finance institutions, investors, developers, manufacturers, housing finance providers, policymakers and other stakeholders committed to expanding access to decent, affordable and sustainable housing across the continent. This twentieth anniversary is a significant milestone and a testament to the vision, dedication and resilience of the organisers under the leadership of Mr. Festus Adebayo.

The theme for this year's event, "Housing Solutions for Low Income and Informal Workers in Africa," is both timely and compelling. Across Africa, millions of hardworking families continue to face significant barriers to accessing decent housing due to affordability constraints, limited access to long-term finance, inadequate infrastructure and rapid urbanisation. Addressing these challenges requires bold policy reforms, innovative financing mechanisms, strategic partnerships and sustained investment. It also requires strong institutions capable of mobilising capital at scale and deploying it efficiently to deliver lasting social and economic impact.

At Family Homes Funds Limited, this vision is at the core of our mandate. We are committed to expanding access to affordable housing through innovative housing finance solutions, strategic partnerships and the mobilisation of domestic and international capital to support inclusive and sustainable urban development.

Since inception, FHFL has deployed capital for the development of over 16,000 affordable housing units for low-income families across Nigeria. We have also financed the development of modern student accommodation providing over 23,000 bed spaces across 15 Nigerian tertiary institutions, helping to improve learning environments while unlocking private investment in education infrastructure.

Recognising that access to housing extends beyond construction, FHFL has facilitated the issuance of over 400 long-tenure, low-cost Help-to-Own mortgages, enabling more Nigerians to transition from renters to homeowners through affordable and innovative financing solutions.

In furtherance of our commitment to sustainability and social inclusion, FHFL is pioneering Nigeria's first Green Social Housing Programme, combining climate-resilient housing with social empowerment initiatives for vulnerable households. These projects, located in Kaduna, Ibadan and Calabar, provide energy-efficient homes alongside livelihood support and economic empowerment programmes for widows, demonstrating how housing can serve as a catalyst for poverty reduction, social inclusion and environmental sustainability.

As a professionally managed development finance institution, FHFL has established itself as a credible and trusted partner in Nigeria's housing ecosystem. The Company maintains strong credit ratings, robust corporate governance standards and prudent risk management practices. Beyond funding support from the Federal Government, FHFL has successfully mobilised long-term capital from international Development Finance Institutions and the Nigerian Capital Market, reinforcing its financial sustainability and enhancing its capacity to deliver transformative housing programmes while crowding in private sector investment.

Looking ahead, FHFL is positioning itself to significantly scale its impact through a new generation of catalytic financing programmes. Building on the success of its Affordable Housing Fund, the Company is expanding its portfolio through the Rental Housing Fund, the Home Ownership Fund, and the forthcoming Land and Infrastructure Development Fund, which will unlock serviced land, de-risk housing developments and accelerate the delivery of affordable homes nationwide. FHFL also remains committed to expanding student housing, green and climate-resilient housing, and innovative financing solutions that leverage public resources to attract substantially larger pools of private and institutional capital.

FHFL will continue mobilizing domestic and international investment, strengthening partnerships with governments, development finance institutions, pension funds, capital market investors and the private sector, while delivering measurable social and economic outcomes. Through these efforts, we aim to facilitate the delivery of hundreds of thousands of additional affordable homes, expand access to quality rental and student accommodation, deepen mortgage accessibility, create sustainable jobs and stimulate inclusive economic growth in support of Nigeria's development priorities.

The Africa International Housing Show continues to provide an invaluable platform for knowledge sharing, policy dialogue, innovation, investment promotion and strategic partnerships. As Africa's largest housing and construction gathering, AIHS plays a critical role in fostering collaboration among governments, investors, development partners and the private sector to accelerate affordable housing delivery and sustainable urban development across the continent.

As AIHS celebrates twenty years of excellence, Family Homes Funds Limited reaffirms its commitment to working with governments, development partners, financial institutions, developers and other stakeholders to mobilise greater investment, strengthen housing finance systems and deliver scalable, sustainable and inclusive housing solutions that improve lives, create jobs and drive economic growth across Nigeria and Africa.

We wish all delegates productive deliberations, successful business engagements and enduring partnerships and congratulate the organisers on this historic twentieth anniversary of the Africa International Housing Show.
